By STEN HEDMAN

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 13.—Backed by an overwhelming surge of public opinion, Sweden today decided to give Finland material aid against Russia to the greatest extent of its ability.

Forming a new cabinet of national union, and looking with what was officially described as "breathless tension" on the Soviet drive across Finland's "waist-line," Sweden determined to rush assistance to her neighboring republic before the Soviets cut off avenues of communication.

Week May Decide

Before the end of the week, according to Swedish opinion, it may be decided whether the Russians succeed in slicing across central Finland to the Gulf of Bothnia at Kemi or Uleaborg, or whether the

Will Provide Equipment For About 100 Buildings Recently Erected By State

By RAYMOND WILCOVE

HARRISBURG, Dec. 13.—The task of equipping approximately 100 hospital, school, prison and armory buildings constructed during the Earle administration, many of which have stood idle for more than a year, was about ready to begin today.

The last obstacle in the way, the sale of $7,000,000 bonds to obtain the funds needed to purchase the equipment and thus permit the buildings, many of which are sorely needed, to be used has been completed.

Report Soviet Has Huge Force On Battle Line

Claim Million And Half Russian Troops Assembled Near Front

MAJOR OFFENSIVE MAY BE OPENED

Only Part Of Large Force Actually Stationed Along Fighting Lines

(International News Service)

HELSINGFORS, Dec. 13.—At least 1,500,000 Russian troops are drawn up in battle array along and behind the middle-Finland battle front, half way between Lake Ladoga and the Arctic ocean, ready to unleash a major offensive designed to cut Finland in two, Helsingfors authorities estimated today.

Reports received in the Finnish capital indicated the Soviet high command is anxious to get large-scale operations well under way by the end of this week.

Although huge numbers of Russians are ready for battle, it was reported, only some 150,000 or 200,000 troops actually are stationed in the front fighting lines, owing to the difficulties presented by the snow-covered Finnish terrain.

Claim Red Advance

Nevertheless, it was reported that the foremost mechanized Red army unit advancing across middle Finland was already within 60 miles of the Gulf of Bothnia or half way across Finland's "waist line."

Finland reinforcements were rushing into positions and a Finnish counter-offensive was being intensified, leading to belief that a major battle is in full swing.

By launching a full-scale assault against Finland's "waistline," the Russians apparently hope to divide

Have Narrow Escape In Blazing Car On West Washington Street

George Finamore, of R. F. D. No. 5, and two women companions, had a narrow escape from being trapped in their burning car, Tuesday evening at 5:55 o'clock, at the corner of Miller avenue and West Washington street.

The machine suddenly burst into flames when gasoline from a leaking gas line dropped on the hot motor and caught fire. Finamore was unable to open the door on his side of the machine, and all escaped through the right door of the car, as the blaze spread inside the machine.

City firemen were summoned and extinguished the blaze, although the car was almost entirely destroyed.

HARRISBURG, Dec. 13.—Forty-seven road projects calling for the improvement of more than 125 miles of Pennsylvania highways in 1940 at a cost of many millions of dollars were scheduled today by the state highways department.

Included in the 1940 program are federal-aid projects of $10,325,800, which sum will be matched by a similar expenditure by the highways department.

In addition Gov. Arthur James has approved the use of $5,148,509 for a 20-project road building schedule to be engaged in solely by the state. The governor also approved the allocation of $2,000,000 for rural road improvements yet to be named.

The submarine, the navy department in Washington said, was traveling on the surface when it hit a high wave and water poured in through the open hatch. The water caused minor damage to electric equipment, and the submarine put about for shore. It was in no danger at any time, it was said.

It docked safely at 9 o'clock this morning, the navy was advised.

British Press Demands To Know Why Bremen Was Not Halted On Trip

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Dec. 13.—Powerful organs of the British press burst forth today with angry criticism of the admiralty's failure to seize the German luxury liner Bremen when it dashed from Murmansk, Russia, to a "home port" in Germany, believed to be Bremerhaven.

Newspapers demanded to know why the German vessel was permitted to proceed after being sighted within torpedo range of a British submarine.

The London Daily Express struck

the keynote of newspaper comment when it published a five-column headline reading:

"Why Wasn't Ship Sunk?"

"Why didn't we sink the Bremen?"

Under this the Express said that the British public is asking:

"First, if the Bremen was armed, why was it not called on to surrender so that it if refused it could have been sunk?"

"Secondly, if the Bremen was not armed, why was it not taken prisoner?"

Yesterday the admiralty explained:

Formal Action By League Near On Soviet Russia

Move Toward Formal Expulsion Action Is Made At League Session

MOSCOW REJECTS LEAGUE DEMANDS

Motion Is Made By Argentine To Oust Russia From League

(BULLETIN)

GENEVA, Dec. 13.—The League of Nations moved toward formal expulsion of Soviet Russia today when a special committee on Finland adopted a report containing an expulsion proposal drafted this morning by Bolivia.

Adoption of the report was announced after an Argentine motion to oust Russia was placed before the League of Nations assembly. This followed Moscow's flat rejection of the proposal for an armistice in the Russo-Finnish war.

Annexed To Report

The Bolivian ouster proposal was annexed to the report adopted by the committee which had been appointed to deal with the Russo-Finnish problem and which drew up the Soviet-repudiated suggestion for an armistice and league mediation.

The Bolivian proposal as adopted by the committee—which thereby decided to expel Russia—was framed in two sections.

Senator Holt To Open Controversy

Will Introduce Resolution Denouncing Third Term As Un-American

SAYS ISSUE NOT PURELY DOMESTIC

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—A senate battle over the New Deal's demand that President Roosevelt be drafted again in 1940 was assured today when Senator Rush D. Holt (D) of West Virginia, announced he will introduce a resolution denouncing a third term as "un-American."

Declaring the third term issue is a "challenge to democracy," Holt derided the declarations of staunch New Dealers that only Mr. Roosevelt can fulfill the presidential duties in the present world crisis. He listed a number of prominent day by the authority board of the bonds' sale proposals and specifications of the equipment needed will be sent out. Bids will be received and contracts will be let to furnish the equipment.

At least six months will be required to complete the entire program, said J. B. Frye, authority engineer in charge of the equipment program, who explained that equipment would be purchased according to material rather than to individual buildings.

"Equipping these approximately 100 buildings is a monumental task," explained Frye, pointing out that some 2,000 different pieces of equipment must be bought.

Buy Equipment By Groups

Frye said the equipment would be bought by groups. For example, bids would be let first for all the beds, mattresses and carpets needed for the 100 institutions. Following award of these contracts bids would be let for all the furniture, sheets and table cloths needed and so on until all the equipment was purchased.

To equip each building individually would take two years, said Frye.

In addition to buying equipment, the $7,000,000 will be used to sponsor WPA projects for landscaping and hammered home each platform plank with arguments on the soundness and feasibility of his recommendations.

On these four cardinal points, he said, Republicans are in agreement:

- (1) Encourage private enterprise by revision of government regulation of business.
- (2) Curtail government expenses to remove the deficit and repeal currently vested inflationary powers.
- (3) Return relief control to the separate states, but continue federal humanitarian activities such as relief, old age assistance, housing and medical aid to the poor under revised administration.
- (4) Help business and the farmer by building up private enterprise and curtailing federal competition with private business.

"A deficit policy is an insane policy which can lead only, as it has elsewhere, to inflation, national bankruptcy and the destruction of the very basis of the American system of thrift, industry and private enterprise," Senator Taft said.

A careful study of the national budget, he said, indicates that it "could be balanced in about two years at a figure of approximately $7,000,000,000." He added:

"This would be twice the expenditures of the Hoover administration surely not an unreasonable goal."

Democrats, headed by Vice President John Nance Garner, as fully able of serving as president in any circumstances.

Holt prepared his anti-third term resolution early this year, but he was talked into withholding it at the last session of congress. The resolution paraphrases the elder Lafayette's anti-third term declaration, approved by the senate in 1927 when President Coolidge occupied the White House.

The West Virginian said: "I will definitely introduce my resolution against a third term. "This challenge on a third term is not a domestic issue. Throughout the world we have seen the theory develop that one man is indispensable to a nation. Every government that has gone into dictatorship has started that way. Now we have Mussolini in Italy, Hitler in Germany, Stalin in Russia and Deladier in France."

Another committee composed of delegates from Bolivia, Britain, France and Sweden will examine the report, after which it will be recommended to the assembly, which will act on it one way or another.

After the assembly adopts the report by a majority vote, as it is expected to do, the report will be transmitted to the league council, where a unanimous vote in favor of the report will place it into effect. Latest predictions are that these moves will be carried through and that Russia will be expelled.

The 150,000 Russians in the front battle zones north of Lake Ladoga are constantly being relieved by the reserves stationed to the rear, a maneuver designed to wear out Finnish resistance by sheer weight of numbers.

Meanwhile, persistent but unconfirmed reports indicated that the Finnish air force heavily bombed the backbone of the Russian attack, smashing the railway leading to Murmansk for a distance of some 15 miles at a point about 60 miles north of Lake Ladoga.

At the same time, Finnish ski patrols were said to have attacked and "blown up" a Russian airport about 60 miles west of Sala.

Military officials estimated Finland's losses in the fighting thus far at 2,000 dead, and compared this to the Russian losses, which were estimated in Helsingfors at 25,000 dead and 2,500 captured.

STOCKINGS MADE FROM NYLON MAKE OFFICIAL DEBUT

WILMINGTON, Del.—Stockings made from nylon, the new artificial silk, look as though they will be a boon to American women.

Put on public sale here for the first time in limited quantities, the new hose were enthusiastically hailed by women in Wilmington, who reported that so far they are superior to real silk in lasting qualities. Some observers saw a threat to the Japanese silk industry in this country as a result of the new wonder thread.

Nylon, made from coal, water and air, was developed by the du Pont Company of Wilmington.

Local wearers, after wearing the stockings for three weeks, reported that:

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

NO PRESENTS FOR TEACHER

Years ago, when I taught in an ungraded rural school, it was the accepted custom for the teacher, on the last day of school immediately preceding Christmas vacation, to "treat" the children, giving each a bag (we called it a poke) of candy and an orange. The teacher bought this "treat" out of his own money. The practice still prevails in some places.

A still worse practice is prevalent in many city school districts in the United States. Children individually bear Christmas gifts to the teacher.

Just see how pernicious this practice becomes. Poor children who cannot offer such gifts or do so at great sacrifice to their parents. How do these children feel as they see their classmates, whose parents have more money, present the gifts to the teacher and receive her expression of appreciation?

The child who bears a gift to his teacher feels superior to the children who don't and hopes, no doubt, that he will be rewarded with higher grades and more attention from the teacher. The other children with no gifts are very sure their gift-bearing classmates will be favored by the teacher.

Fortunately, some boards of education publish a rule which forbids the teacher to accept gifts at school from their children. Even then some school children will present the gift to the teacher at her home.

Most teachers don't want their children to offer them gifts, but some teachers believe they must hurt the child's feelings not to accept the gift. The teacher easily could meet this problem if, a few weeks before Christmas, she announced that she would accept no gifts, explaining why it would not be right for her to do so.

A common school practice, however, especially in the elementary grades, is that of having the child make at school a little gift for each of the parents, as a part of the creative school activity. When we parents receive these gifts, however crude, let us try to show appreciation. If we have true, deep, wide sympathy with, and understanding of the child, we will consider such a gift as very precious.

Save for Parents

Some teachers also inspire their children, wisely, to save money with which to buy gifts for their parents. Now and then each parent, through thoughtful suggestions, induces the child to choose to make self-sacrifices so that he can purchase a gift for the other parent.

This principle applies to the bearing of still more precious gifts. I remember how Mother used to say to me, when Father wasn't present, "I hope you do all you can to help your father. He works so hard and makes so many sacrifices for you children." In like manner Father used to say, "Do try to save your mother more. She has so many cares, so much to do for all of you children, and gets so tired." Thus my parents were always selling love-stock to us children. But I can remember when either Father or Mother asked us children for such gifts for himself or herself—always for the other. Lovely, wasn't it?

I wish I could give my children as much as my parents gave me and my brothers and sisters—of those things that don't perish.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

SOME RECOMPENSE

War has stripped England of its civil liberties, imposed on its people a staggering tax load, and brought it close to the horror unleashed by today's forces of destruction.

Yet even the ill winds turned loose by the War God are bringing a measure of good to England, not to today's England, but to the England of the future. The threat of great enemy air fleets raining death upon Britain's cities has led to the evacuation of hundreds of thousands of children from these danger zones into the country.

Countless thousands of them from the slums of London are seeing a green and sunlit countryside for the first time, and breathing clean air untainted by the soot and dirt of a great city. That these youngsters cried "Hurrah for rural England!" when they were torn away from their parents and sent to live, at government expense, among stranger families for the duration of the war. The quietness of the nights disturbed them, and the occasional hooting of the owls was terrifying. The change must have been equally hard on the landed gentry—particularly the children ones—who found their precious dishware and furniture being roughly treated by their rambunctious young guests from the city.

But by now, say observers, the city children and their country hosts are fast becoming friends, with the crisis of war wiping out all distinctions of caste and class.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 4:33; sun rises tomorrow 7:17.

Even people we don't like often say things we can agree to.

"But I wasn't doing 45" a man up for speeding protested. "I was not doing 30, or 25 or even 20. 'I must warn you' interrupted the judge. 'that you are in danger of backing into something.'"

LIFE'S LITTLE AGONIES

You see some pretty queer golf in Florida. A player was driving off the other morning a foot or so in front of the teeing mark. The club secretary happened to be passing and stopped to say:

"Here, you can't do that. It isn't permitted."

"What isn't permitted?" inquired the player.

"Why driving off a foot ahead of the mark, of course."

The player gave a snarling laugh.

"Away idiot," he said, "I'm playing my third stroke."

MAKING CERTAIN

Answering a ring of the bell, Mrs. Smith opened her front door to be confronted by a man who looked at her quizzically over his glasses.

"If you please, madam," he began, "how many are there in your family?"

"Only myself and my husband," she replied.

"Any children?"

"Yes, but they're married and live elsewhere."

"Any cats or dogs?"

"Not now."

"Have you a radio?"

"Now wait a minute," demanded Mrs. Smith. "Why all these questions? Are you a census taker?"

"No, madam," the man replied. "I'm only a man who is considering renting the house next door."

GEORGE WASHINGTON WAS BORN FEBRUARY 11

Historians say and calendars show that George Washington, the "father of his country" was born February 22.

It is said, however, a page from the Washington family Bible records the birth of George Washington as of February 11th, 1732, about 10 o'clock in the morning.

We celebrate Washington's Birthday now February 22. But why? The answer is because in 1752 the cal-

IT DOES HAPPEN

The Optimist was trying to cheer the Pessimist.

"I've noticed all through life," he said, "that when a man gives a thing away two come back to him."

"That's very true," said the pessimist. "I know from experience. Last June I gave away my daughter in marriage and now she and her husband have come to live with me."

TODAY'S TRUTH

Men become so involved in the intricacies of business that the only time they ever notice the beautiful things in life like flowers and the waterfall, is when the children point at them and exclaim:

Instructions in horseback riding are now being taught in some places. Wonder what the old boys and girls would think of that if they were here now. In the old days the kids rode horses on farm before they could walk—and how!

A California woman who celebrated her 80th wedding anniversary gave this advice to young couples: "Do not try to live too fast, slow down once in a while and see where you are going."

A man weighing 140 pounds contains enough fat for seven cakes of soap, carbon for 9,000 pencils, phosphorus to make 2,200 match heads, magnesium for one dose of salts, iron to make one medium-sized nail, sufficient lime to whitewash a chicken coop, enough sulphur to rid one dog of fleas and water to fill a 10-gallon barrel.

A friend who studies professional football from close up on the fifty-yard-line tells me that Davy O'Brien, brilliant back and forward-pass checker for the Philadelphia Eagles, will earn more than $40,000 this year, including salary, payment for testimonials, and one thing and another. That marks a nice reciprocal hook-up between bread and circuses.

Professional football is rapidly becoming big business. It is solvent. It is leading laggard dollars and getting them out into circulation, and it has earned the admiration of all lovers of clean, honest sport. It started in the early nineteen-hundreds with a few former college players of the Duquesne Athletic Club. It grew in small cities like Green Bay, Wis., and Canton, Ohio, where people eagerly wanted big-time football but couldn't get it. It has moved along steadily to the 62,000 gate at this year's Giants-Redskins game in New York, with a grand spurge of public enthusiasm.

Football as a business is proving that frank professionalism is having a salutary effect on the colleges, where it hasn't always been so frank. While the pro teams take only college men and onto the colleges, with their swing bands, like George Marshall's 105-piece band, their yell masters and impassioned invocations of team loyalty, they never poach on the college preserves and no player is eligible until after his graduation from college. The result has been to sharpen the dividing line between the amateur and the professional. Furthermore, it tends to relieve the colleges of the necessity of advertising their plants by winning football teams.

The shift of a lot of this romantic excitement to the Sunday afternoon professional games has the effect of putting the colleges on their mettle and giving them a chance to keep their minds on their work. It is a wholesome sluice for the overweening football interest which has been worrying the pedagogues for years.

A top-cut football player, getting out of college at twenty-one or twenty-two, may get as much as eight or nine years of seasonal but profitable work—with big returns if his testimonial writing wrist, as well as his legs, remain limber. Mel Hein, captain of Mr. Tim Mara's grand team, the Giants, is thirty. Ken Strong is also thirty. Obsolescence seems about the same as that in practicing law, general wear and tear is less, and also less is the danger of ruinous injury.

Some people may have had the idea that pro football headed youth into the dead-end of a fourth decade with their brilliant future behind them. That notion is all wrong. Many or most of these lads are studying for the profession—law, medicine or engineering—or like Tuffy Leemans, finest player in the world, engaging in business. Many of the Chicago players are taking post-graduate courses at the University of Chicago.

The Ivy League colleges contribute few men to the pro football line-up. These lads are usually geared into professional or business career in the undergraduate days and do not need to spend additional years to get the money and kudos of a pro football buildup. Hence most of the players come from the cactus colleges where the best material actually exists. They are uniformly bigger and tougher than the general runs of college teams.

In matches between synthetic amateur teams and the pros, the former have held their own in skill, tactics and strategy, but a top-rating pro team is an aggregation of fast tanks against which college boys are mere sharpshooters. They are punning outfits.

The pro game has, naturally and fittingly, been organized for show with several variations from the college rules. The goal posts are on the goal line, so that field goals may be kicked. A forward pass is allowed from any point, and the passer need not be five yards back of the line, as in the college game. All this makes for scoring. That's what the public likes, and therefore the pros get the crowds.

From where we sit, this seems all to the good and it might appear that similarly effective would be a segregation of the amateur sheep from the professional goats in public life. Reformers, doctrinaires, social meliorists, politicians, viewers with alarm bells tagged as amateurs, but are they? The pros and amateurs of our public forum could be designated by contrasting uniforms and numbers, surely there would be more honesty and clarity in our social set-up.

LEARNING

I like the sort of learning that tells of birds and flowers

And all the countless splendors that fill this earth of ours.

But Oh, I fear the wisdom that must be the time employ

To fashion dreadful engines to slaughter and destroy

All learning should be gentle and all we learn should end

In making man the richer to be to all a friend.

Each mystery discovered should better what we build.

And make us all the wiser, our hands a bit more skilled.

Why must our boasted culture be turned to vicious thins?

To spreading desolation and death with flying wings?

And why must all our wisdom, our genius and our skill,

Be bent to serve men's hatreds, to ruin and to kill?

Merry Manager Corcoran

Washington, Dec. 13. THE real backstage manager of the third-term drive, now being so energetically promoted, is that gay young accordion player and brain trust, Mr. Thomas Corcoran. He is one of the things of which his friends are justly proud. Besides writing the President's fireside chats, he is the inspiration of most inner-circle activities and the political master mind of his group.

FOR example, it was Mr. Corcoran, his admirers insist, who conceived the plan of the great primary election of 1938, and induced Mr. Roosevelt to lead that ill-fated campaign to drive out of public life the Democratic Senators who had opposed his scheme to pack the Supreme Court. And it was Mr. Corcoran, too, who launched the unhappy candidacy of Solicitor General Robert H. Jackson, whom it was first proposed to elect Governor of New York and then President.

BOTH of these movements were born in the fertile Corcoran mind and with the President's wholehearted cooperation, pushed to the bitter end without consultation with or consent from Mr. James A. Farley, whose wisdom in such matters is pretty generally accepted. Both failed in an ignominious and complete manner. One would suppose that these two rather disastrous experiences might have shaken the confidence of Mr. Corcoran and his friends in his political astuteness. On the contrary, the movement in which they are now engaged seems to them more sure of success and to Corcoran skill and subtlety more admirable than ever. It was Mr. Corcoran, for example, who induced Senator Norris to make his recent third-term statement and it is Mr. Corcoran who is merrily mapping out plans for other explosions of a similar nature designed to remove the rocks in the road.

AND it is Mr. Corcoran—or at least, so it is believed—who is inspiring the desperate effort now being made to woo Mr. Farley. This the third-termers regard—and rightly—as more important than anything else. Because unless, one way or the other, Mr. Farley can be wooed or won over, no "grand" such as the Corcoran group plans can possibly be made convincing. It may be successful in securing the nomination, but the connivance of Mr. Roosevelt can only be concealed by the cooperation of Mr. Farley. Up to date Mr. Farley's cooperation has been conspicuously absent, and unconcealed connivance is one thing the Corcoran group can't possibly afford. This is easy to see how vital to the inner-circle strategists the wooing of Mr. Farley with his popularity, political strength and convention influence, has become.

THE fact is that Mr. Farley's attitude on this subject is far more interesting and important than that of any other. It is to be expected that Mr. Roosevelt's jobholders, and intimate friends should want to continue his regime. Practical unanimity among them is entirely natural, which makes it all the more impressive. Here is a man whose personal loyalty and political services to Mr. Roosevelt are above question. As a member of the Roosevelt Cabinet and chairman of the National Committee, in the first term, Mr. Farley took a good deal of abuse, but has not been established in such a way that can possibly harm his reputation in the country for high character as well as real capacity. Today, no one questions his conduct as an official or belittles him as an individual. Aside from Mr. Roosevelt himself, he is the most influential man in the country.

What Noted People Say

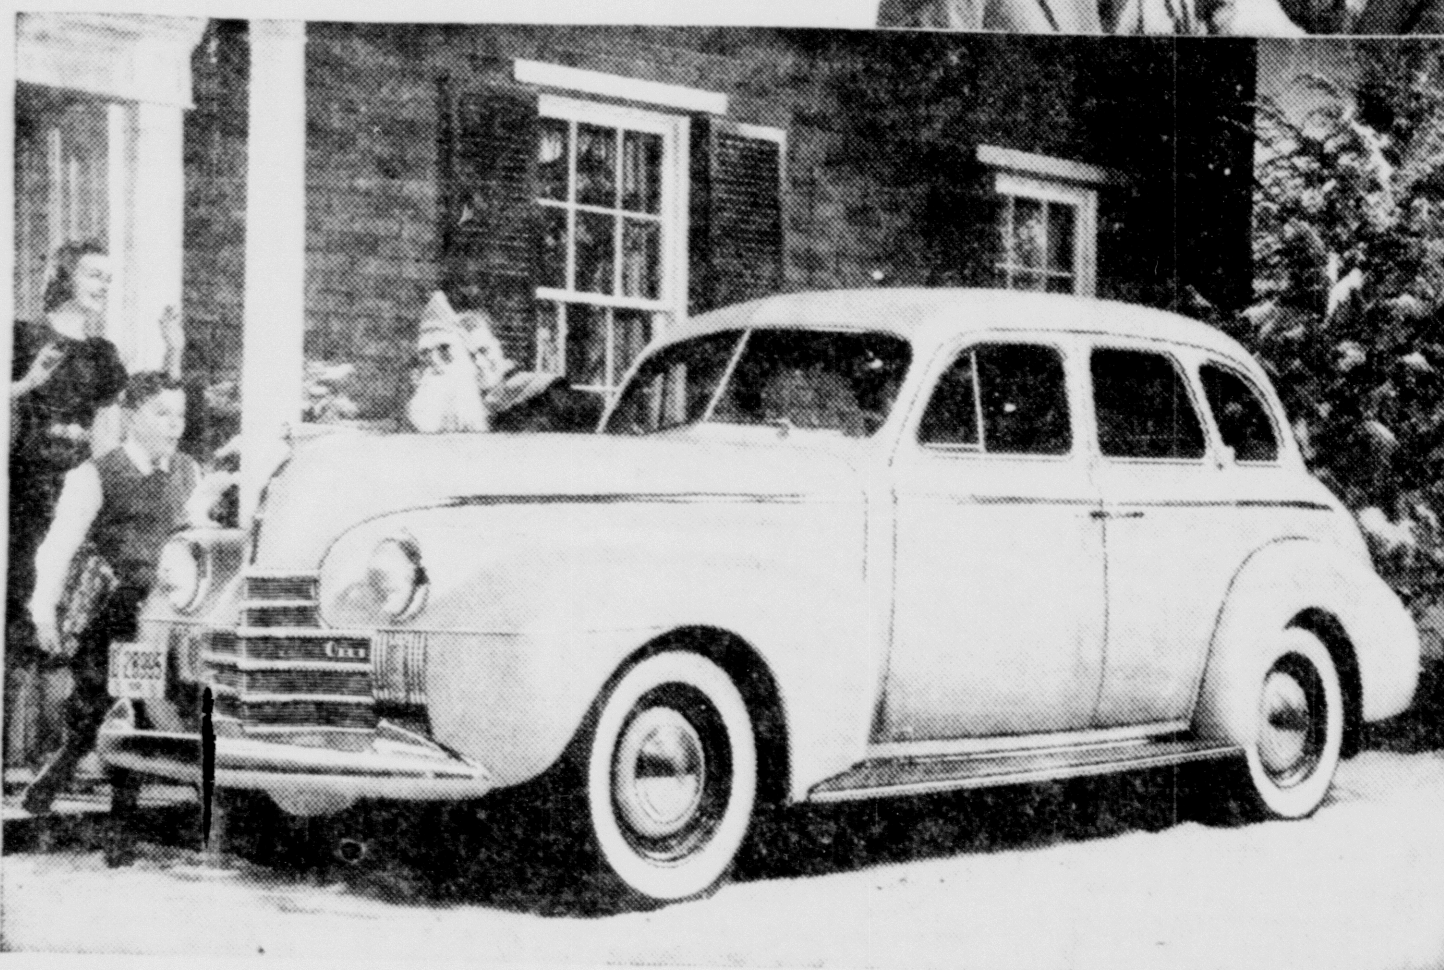

(International News Service)
NEW YORK—Gov. Lloyd C. Stark of Missouri urges America to dissolve state trade barriers.
"May it not be our destiny that in working out our own problem of Balkanizing the United States we may again cast a peace pattern for a war-weary world?"

NEWARK, N. J.—Gen. Hugh Johnson warns against misunderstanding the fundamentals of democracy.
"The essence of democracy is not majority rule with no limitations; it is rather restraint on any kind of rule."

SOUTH BEND, Ind.—Sports Writer Bill Corum praises sports as democracy's "safety valve."
"Sports are typical of democracies, free peoples, free nations. They are not for dictator nations."

NEW YORK—Sir Raymond Unwin, British housing authority, denounces public housing schemes with private enterprise.
"If you make the housing standards of the lowest income housing, that tends to increase standards all the way up the scale and stimulates a desire for better housing among those who can well pay for it."

the Democratic party, worth a hundred times as much as all those who have come out for the third term combined.

ON that subject, though Mr. Farley has made no public statement, neither has he made a secret of his feeling, and no one has much doubt as to what it is—including Mr. Roosevelt. It seems to be Mr. Farley's conviction that for Mr. Roosevelt to seek a third term— even successfully to seek it—would be bad for Mr. Roosevelt, bad for the party and bad for the country. Probably what makes Mr. Farley so good-humored and tolerant concerning the third-term activities of Mr. Corcoran and his little band of palace politicians is his firm belief that Mr. Roosevelt entertains precisely the same conviction. If this is a correct diagnosis of the Roosevelt-Farley situation—and there is some reason to think so—the joke is certainly on the inner-circle boys.

Gaston Post 343 Has Big Meeting

Members Hear Reports On State Round-Up; Contribute To Orphans School

The regular meeting of Perry S. Gaston Post 343, American Legion, was held Tuesday evening in the Legion home with Commander A. L. Conn, presiding.

With a fine attendance of members, Commander Conn gave an interesting report of the Pennsylvania Legion round-up at Harrisburg last Friday and Saturday. Some of the highlights being the report that the membership in this state was over 8,000 more than at the same time last year. The addresses by National Commander Kelly, and State Commander Sterling were outstanding. Another speaker was Gov. Arthur James, who lauded the states legionnaires on the fine co-operation they were giving to his "Job Mobilization" campaign and that of all bodies engaged in this campaign he was looking to the legion to put it over.

A liberal contribution towards the Christmas for Soldiers Orphans at Scotland school, near Chambersburg, Pa., was ordered forwarded to the school. Major Wadlinger gave an interesting discourse on the Scotland school.

The local post is interested in locating and sponsoring a skating plot for this winter and with this idea in view, a committee consisting of James E. Moorhead, Chester Sweesy and Walter Dietlerle were appointed by Commander Conn. This promises to be one of the many post activities contemplated.

Frank Nessles Have Misfortune On Florida Trip

Mrs. Nessel In Birmingham,
Ala., Hospital With Hand
Injury

From the time Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nessel left New Castle for their annual trek to Florida, misfortune followed their trail, striking at various intervals.

Shortly after leaving town, Mr. Nessel had his billfold and all his money stolen while stopping at a tourist camp overnight. Continuing on their journey, the Nessel automobile was forced off the road into a ditch near Franklin, Tennessee.

While working with the car to get it back on the road Mrs. Nessel, in some manner, had her finger crushed so badly that it was necessary to amputate it at a Franklin hospital.

Arriving in Birmingham, Alabama, where the Nesses are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Fred Robson, formerly of New Castle, it was found that infection had set in Mrs. Nessel's injury and she was taken to the hospital there. It was learned this morning that she is getting along nicely.

On Monday, December 18, Mr. and Mrs. Nessel plan to celebrate their 45th wedding anniversary. The many friends of the couple are planning a card shower for that date. Letters and cards may be addressed to Mrs. Frank Nessel, 1512 43rd street, Bellevue Heights, Birmingham.

New Uses Being Sought For Cotton

Officials Of Mellon Institute Conducting Research To Develop Industry

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH.—Determined to keep King Cotton from tottering from his throne, scientific research to find new uses for the south's principal product underwent expansion here recently, officials at the Mellon Institute announced.

Dependent on the success of the researchers may be the livelihood of millions of Americans who are today dependent on the industry in Pittsburgh eight scientists are attempting to develop new uses for lint, seed and cotton stalks. In addition, the number of fellowships in southern colleges for the study of the problem will probably be increased this fall, Lawrence W. Bass, assistant director of the Institute declared.

"Faced with huge over-production and large inventories plus severe competition from substitute materials, cotton has no other hope for regaining economic health than to dig up some new jobs for itself," contended Bass.

To date the men under the Cotton Research Foundation, have developed oil-free cottonseed meal and an effective sweeping compound for seed hull bran. Research has also revealed that wall board and similar products may be made from cotton stalks.

Underway at present are projects which may result in production from hulls of activated carbon for use in gas masks, and the successful use of gossypol, a toxic material present in cotton seed.

U. S. MECHANICAL UNIT NOTES ROLE OF TANK IN WAR

(International News Service)
ST. JOSEPH, Mo.—The most avid readers of war news in Missouri are members of the 35th Division Tank Company of the National Guard, which is stationed in St. Joseph.

And every member has recognized Germany's victory in Poland as due to the "invaluable German tanks." "The German advances of more than 200 miles in a few days and the resultant Polish demoralization is an example of the use of tanks in warfare," said Capt. C. S. Canby of tank company. "And the story of the war in Poland is additional proof of the success of mechanized warfare. Tanks, followed by infantry and cannon in smaller trucks to clean up enemy machine gun nests and set new bases have proven highly successful."

Head Of Institute Of Family Relations Speaks From Experience

(International News Service)

DENVER.—Girls seeking the higher education and desirable husbands too should marry first unless they want to risk incompatible mating or old-maidhood.

"That is the advice of Dr. Paul Popenoe, secretary of the Los Angeles Institute of Family Relations. Addressing 300 parents and educators at the University of Denver Parent Education Conference, Dr. Popenoe declared there was a shortage of eligible bachelors.

"Half of the women in the United States, are married by the age of 22 when the college girl is graduating," Dr. Popenoe said. "Thus half of the potential husbands already are gone when she is ready for marriage and every year's delay thereafter means she is working against the law of diminishing returns."

Other factors to be considered, according to Dr. Popenoe, are that men usually prefer wives younger than themselves and that larger cities fail to recognize the need for bonafide "get acquainted" methods.

"Cities like Denver and Los Angeles do not provide any machinations for educated and intelligent young persons to become acquainted with each other," he asserted.

"Civil and social organizations should make a special effort to see that this need is more fully met. Church young people's societies which used to take care of this in a large measure no longer have large memberships."

Dr. Popenoe said Colorado ranked 16th in the nation in the proportion of unmarried men. Heading the list, he said, were Nevada, Wyoming, Arizona and Montana.

FRANCE MAY GET OIL IN PYRENEES

(International News Service)
PARIS.—French industrial circles are showing interest in the possibilities of oil in the Pyrenees.

This follows the discovery of gases in a field in the district of Comminges, a few miles from St. Gaudens.

After five months of unceasing labor, five parties of workmen headed by M. DeVries, chief engineer of the National Liquid Fuel Office, succeeded in planting one mile of metal piping into the earth.

Just as they were about to stop their sounding operations, they heard a violent explosion. This was followed by the escape of a powerful jet of gas.

This gas was stated by experts to be similar to that usually escaping from oil wells.

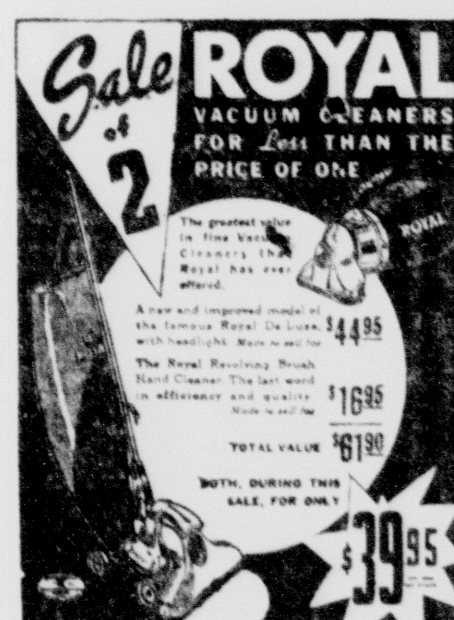

Work will be resumed as soon as the special equipment needed to pump the oil has arrived from Paris.

Browning-Hubert Enthrall Audience

Metropolitan Concert Guild Artists Give Patrons An Evening Of Enjoyment

The great state of North Carolina is noted for a number of things. Burley tobacco, resinous pine, Mr. Mitchell and the Great Smokies, and now, Lucille Browning. Miss Browning is a mezzo-soprano who last night appeared in concert in the George Washington Junior high school, under the banner of the Metropolitan Concert Guild. With her appeared also a young French cellist, Marcel Hubert, of whom more about later.

Miss Browning seems to be a composition of beauty, personality and melody for proper seasoning. Nature has given her a crown of hair that might be called copper, bronze or Titian but which, confidentially, comes close to being red. Her press sheets describe her as an "attractive redhead". That's an understatement.

There is a quality about a true mezzo that the lyric or coloratura soprano never quite achieve. Warm and vibrant and appealing, and Miss Browning has them all. Where your coloratura achieves a technical brilliancy in the top ranges, the mezzo adds soul and after hearing this young North Carolinian sing Tuesday night we suggest that her native state Chamber of Commerce add her to the state's attractions.

She opened with a group of heavy German numbers, Bach and Schumann and Trunk and Marx, rather heavy fare perhaps, but well done. She came back with the aria "O Don Fatale" from "Don Carlos" and had the audience asking for more, but when she finished her English group, ending with Rachmaninoff's "Flood of Spring", the applause rolled up over the footlights like a tidal wave. She responded with two encores. Her accompanist was Brooks Smith, another youngster who has magic in his fingers.

Marcel Hubert, cellist, had the other half of the program. He opened with Beethoven's "Variations Symphoniques", a collection that only a true artist would have courage to try. Like Miss Browning, he hit his peak in his closing group, using "Arioso" by Bach, "Menuet" by Mozart, "Romanze II" by Beethoven and closing with a brilliant number "Hora Staccato" by Diniuc. The last number requires agility in fingering and bowing but Hubert was equal to the exactions of it. He came here in place of Joseph Schuster, who was taken ill at the last moment, but after his performance last night the Guild needn't explain anything about it. Hubert is a sparkling artist at the cello. He was accompanied by William Tarrasch.

The concert Tuesday night was the second of the winter series sponsored by the Metropolitan Concert Guild. The first was the Don Cosackos, the next will be Maurice Rosenthal, the eminent pianist.

DOG QUARANTINE AT NEW GALILEE

NEW GALILEE, Pa., Dec. 13.—Health authorities in this Beaver county borough today took steps to guard against an epidemic of rabies. Mr. and Mrs. William Elliott, their sons, James, 19, and William, Jr., 17, were given serum Tuesday after being bitten by a pet dog.

DON'T SCRATCH, SOOTHE THE IRRITATION

Quick relief from the maddening itch of eczema, psoriasis, poison ivy, and irritation about the rectum or personal parts is obtained by applying Resinol Ointment. Leave it on over night. It lessens the desire to scratch, and eases the irritation. The soothing effect of Resinol takes the sting from the irritated places and makes you more comfortable. The skin heals sooner, too, with the help of Resinol, as its oily base holds the medication in active contact with the tortured parts.

For gentle cleansing of irritated skin, Resinol Soap is excellent because it has no excess of free alkali and is so refreshing. Many nurses suggest you use Resinol Ointment and Soap—why don't you try them?

Buy at any drug store. For free sample, write to Resinol, Dept. 85, Baltimore, Md.

Installation At Princeton Church

Formal Ceremonies Take Place At Church On Tuesday Night

Rev. Clifford S. Newsom, new pastor of the Mt. Hermon and Princeton Presbyterian churches, has now been formally installed at both, with ministers of Shenango Presbytery officiating. The Mt. Hermon installation ceremony took place Sunday night, and the Princeton ceremony last night. Both events were well attended and the people of the two congregations are very happy to have a pastor. They have been without a regular pastor for seven years.

Rev. and Mrs. Newsom and daughter, who came here from near Erie, are living in the manse, Princeton. Last night Rev. J. Greer Bingham, of Wampum, presided, preached the sermon and propounded the constitutional questions. Dr. Charles Bell, of Ellwood City, gave the charge to the pastor, and Rev. Joseph Pringle, also of Ellwood City, gave the charge to the congregation. Rev. Paul Chapin, Oak Grove United Presbyterian minister, also had a part in the program.

THREE FROM UNION HIGH ARE MEMBERS OF ALL-STATE CHORUS

Three Union high school seniors, Thelma Wink, Betty Lou Rudesill and Fred Bussey, accompanied by the music director of the school, Leroy Rowley, left today for Knox, Pa., where they will participate in the all-state chorus gathering, December 13, 14 and 15. The chorus, of which the three Union high school students won membership, will present a concert Friday evening.

Public Exhibit Of Christmas Decorations Planned On Friday And Saturday

Everything is in readiness for the public display of Christmas decorations, both indoor and outdoor, to be arranged in the Garden Center on the second floor of the local public library building, Friday and Saturday of this week.

The exhibit, which will be open free to the public will run from 1 o'clock Friday afternoon to 9 o'clock Saturday night. The event is being sponsored by the garden clubs of the district, and the exhibits will be arranged by members of these clubs.

According to Miss Alice Sterling librarian, display space will be available to any person who wishes to arrange a display. Last year's exhibit drew quite a large crowd of spectators and many novel ideas were gleaned from the well arranged decoration displays.

Over Achilles Sinking

(International News Service)
BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 13.—Reports that the German pocket battleship Admiral Scheer sank the British cruiser Achilles off the coast of Uruguay circulated in Buenos Aires today.

British authorities in South America would not deny the report. The British legation at Montevideo, capital of Uruguay, issued a bulletin saying:

"Nothing is known about naval combat, but it is admitted that a German warship is near the Uruguayan coast."

The British naval attaché at Buenos Aires added:

"These are only rumors, but we cannot confirm or deny reports of the sinking of the Achilles."

Great Britain Places Order For 200 Bombing Planes With California Firm

(International News Service)
BURBANK, Cal., Dec. 13.—Great Britain today placed an order for more than 200 Hudson bombers costing approximately $20,000,000 with the Lockheed Aircraft Corporation at Burbank. It was the largest plane order since the war broke out.

The order was given to the factory by the British purchasing commission in New York. It was learned. It calls for the delivery of the twin-engine, high-speed bombers built to carry a crew of four, to the British agents in Los Angeles. From the factory they are expected either to be crated and shipped to New York for shipment overseas or to be taken aboard British ships at Los Angeles harbor.

RING-AROUND-ROSY

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON CROSSING, N. J.—Four families living in Coleman's lane observed national moving day, carting beds, dressers, chairs and other belongings from old houses to new. But in the evening the four families were in the same four houses they started from. Each family moved next door, and as the four homes form a square not many yards across, the exodus was a kind of a ring-around-a-rosy with all hands moving from left to right.

United States Leads Nations In Air Strength

Eclipsed Numerically By Other Powers But Planes Are Held Superior

SURVEY SHOWS POTENTIALITIES

By RUSSELL F. ANDERSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

(Copyright, 1939)

LONDON—The United States is the first ranking military airpower in the world in strength if not in numbers, a comprehensive survey of foreign nations indicated today.

Reliable military evidence, gathered from authoritative aviation sources in England and on the continent, revealed that from a point of view of potential strength, the nations of the world stand as follows:

One—United States.
Two—Russia.
Three—Germany.
Four—Britain.
Five—Italy.
Six—France.
Seven—Japan.

Russia with 4,500 planes has more ships than any other power in the world—but analysis shows that less than 2,500 of this number can be classified as "first line" planes. Although other nations, namely the totalitarian states of Germany and Italy, eclipse America in the number of planes, the survey of the performing ability of the aircraft of the various powers indicates Uncle Sam's fighting air superiority.

American Bombers Supreme
American-built bombers and pursuit ships have a greater flying range and equal in performance anything that foreign military flying corps have to offer. As testimony of the United States' superiority, many nations, principally France, Russia and Great Britain, are turning to America with orders for warplanes.

Spanish war observers admit that American planes, principally the bullet-spitting Boeings, have proved more than a match for the famous death-riders of the sky—the German Messerschmitts and the Italian Savoias.

The "mystery power" of Germany and Italy is pure myth and the product of government-inspired propaganda. Military experts, who are in a position to know the truth about the jealousy-guarded air defense secrets, admit that the German Reich and Italy are better equipped for war today, than their rivals but that they have no super-strength.

Need A Short War
Hitler and Mussolini, the experts contend, can only win an aerial war of short duration, and that in any lengthy world conflict, they would unquestionably meet defeat.

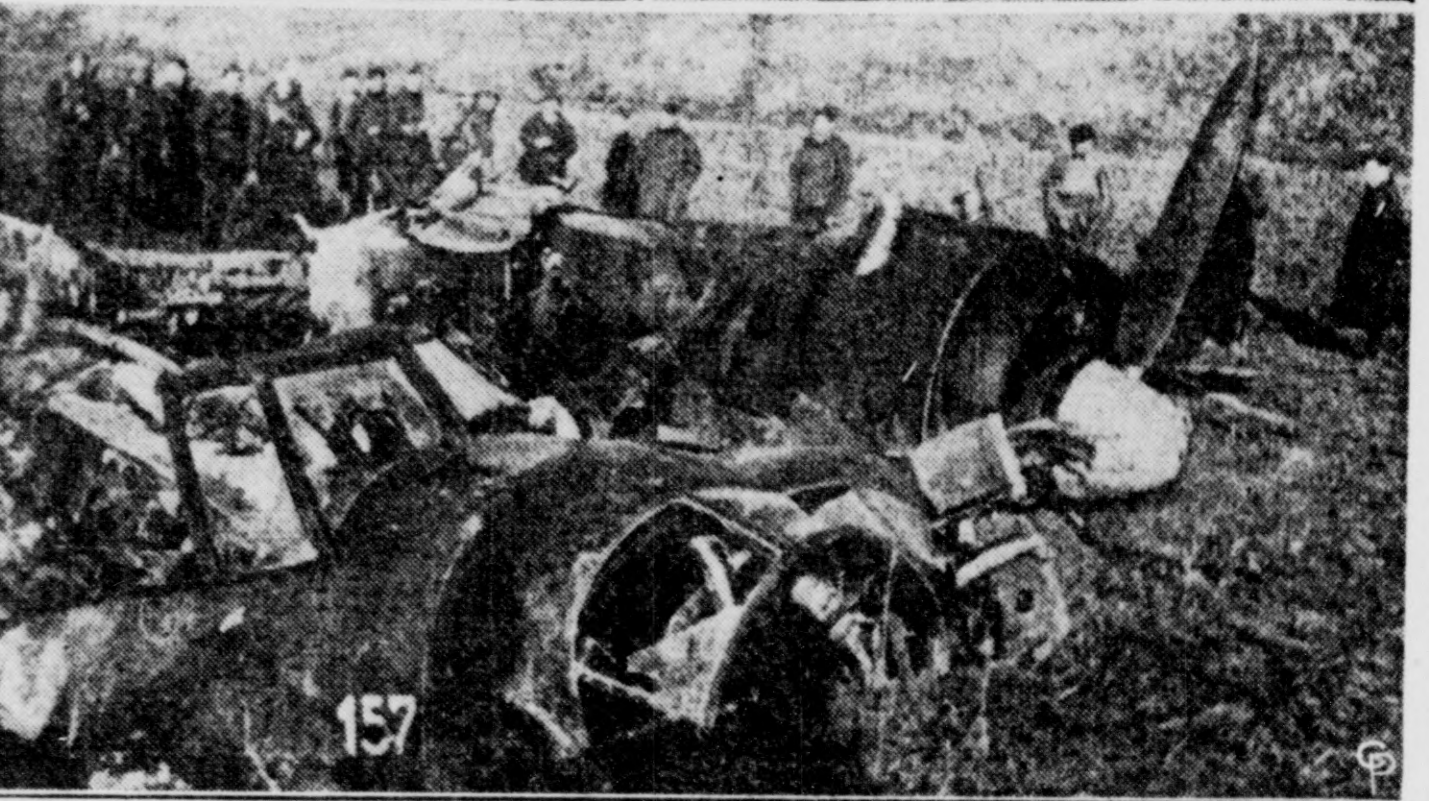

Pierre Cot, former Air Minister of France, and one of the best informed military aviation experts in Europe, epitomizes the situation of a hypothetical war with the declaration:

"From an industrial angle, the situation is as follows—the war material production of Germany and Italy is greater than that of the democracies. This is because the Reich and Italy are partly mobilized industrially. Their rearmament is more intensive than that of the democracies."

The navies of Great Britain and France could readily cut off the dictators' supplies, Cot believes, thereby exercising a paralyzing effect on plane replacements.

Nazi Planes Downed in Western Front Dog Fight

Here are the remains of three Nazi planes which participated in a recent air battle over France—one of the biggest to date. In forty-eight hours of combat in the clouds, Allied dispatches said, eighteen Nazi warbirds were destroyed. Top, left, one of the new speedy Messerschmidt escort fighters, and bottom, what once was a tri-motored German bomber.

HEN-PECKED MAN MOVES INTO HIS CHICKEN COOP

(International News Service)

ELIZABETH, N. J.—De Witt Van Wyck, 48, is a man who was so convinced he was hen-pecked that he moved out of his house and into his chicken-coop and lived there for a month.

He appeared before the Union County Domestic Relations Court here and told his story.

"My wife called me names," Van Wyck said. "I stood her domineering for 20 years and finally my patience gave out and I went into the coop a month ago to find peace and quiet."

He explained that the coop was chickenless, that he had built it himself and that he slept quite comfortably on a bedspring and mattress he moved out from the house.

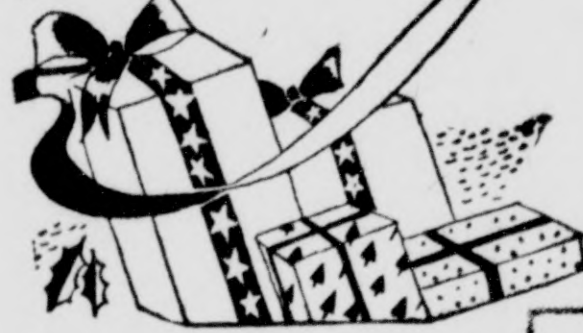

Mrs. Van Wyck told the court that she carried three meals a day out to her husband. "He won't come in the house," she said. "He just sits out there by that chicken coop and broods."

The court ordered Van Wyck back into the house.

Pre-Christmas Buying To Take Spurt Saturday

Evening Hours For Christmas Buyers Will Be Inaugurated By Merchants

WILL USHER IN LAST WEEK SURGE

Christmas shoppers who are unable to get to the stores to do their Christmas shopping during the daylight hours, are expected to throng local stores during the evening hours starting with Saturday, when the last week of Christmas buying will be ushered in.

With Christmas coming on Monday, only seven full shopping days will remain when the evening hour schedule is put in force, and eleventh hour shoppers will have to crowd their buying into this period in order to get under the wire.

Starting with this coming Saturday and lasting through next week the stores will be open each evening until 9 o'clock, and a good holiday trade is anticipated by local store owners who have their shelves well stocked for the occasion.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright 1939, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

DOCTOR EXPLODES SUPERSTITIONS CONCERNING PRE-NATAL INFLUENCE

I think of all the superstitions of childbirth, the one with the most followers the world over is that some fear, some incident to the mother during pregnancy, will mark the baby or leave the child abnormal in some way.

No one can ignore prenatal influence, but the superstitions I refer to go far beyond anything as logical as that. These beliefs obtained in fairly high circles until fairly recently. For instance during the last century some of the countries in Europe had laws forbidding freaks at carnivals and fairs for fear the sight of them would affect babies of pregnant mothers. One case I recall occurred in France. When the famous Siamese twins went to England for an exhibition tour, France hurried through a bill forbidding them to cross the channel to that country for fear their appearance would be the signal for an outbreak of Siamese twins.

Even today young mothers are often told by friends and relatives to be careful not to get a bad fright because such an experience would unquestionably leave its mark on the child. I think even in this enlightened age more people believe such stories than refuse to believe them.

Up here in this part of the country women on the farms work hard.

Most of them help their husbands in the fields and at the barn. Under such conditions accidents of one sort or another are always happening. Certainly enough of them happen to explain to the mother's satisfaction any abnormality a baby may be born with.

I remember one such case that made quite an impression on me at the time. I was a good deal younger then and such things affected me more. Perhaps I was a little superstitious then myself. Anyway, I attended a birth at a farmhouse and the baby was deformed. One of its deformities consisted in the lack of an arm. This particular deformity the mother fastened upon. She recalled that in the course of helping at the barn with the chores, she had witnessed an accident in which a newborn calf had a leg torn off. That woman lay there in bed and said to me, "You know, Doctor, as soon as that happened, I just knew my baby would be born without an arm or a leg."

The explanation of most of these supposed maternal impressions is quite obvious, I think. A baby is born with a peculiarity and right away the family begins thinking back to find something that happened to the mother which caused that abnormality. Well, it would be a surprise to me if every mother couldn't dig up something that occurred during those nine months to explain the event. So as soon as the incident is recalled, it is given in good faith as the cause of the child's trouble, and the story is told all through the village. All you have to do is consider all the things that happen to every mother when she is carrying a child. We every one of us, would be abnormal if these things were true.

As you may gather, I have had more than a passing interest in superstitions for years. One interesting thing I have discovered is that the most outstanding cases always happened in the next village or the next community, or fifty years ago. They are the dickens to pin down. One such story I tried to trace was the story that a pregnant mother, bitten in the leg by a dog, bore a child with the identical teeth marks in the same leg. I've been chasing that around this country for years, but I'm always one community away.

Dr. Dafoe writes more about pre-natal superstitions tomorrow.

Phillips On Job At Furnace

Former Garbage Bureau Superintendent Employed Temporarily

Howard Phillips, former superintendent of collection and disposal of garbage, has been employed temporarily in that capacity, according to Councilman J. Myron Rice. No successor to the late Ed Umbright will be made until January.

Since Umbright's death, Rice and Sanitary Officer Chauncey Davis have been fulfilling the duties. Because Davis had a vacation due, Rice decided to put an experienced superintendent on the job until Davis returns or the new council names a man permanently to the post.

Large Number Qualify At Red Cross Institute

Pass Rigid Requirements As Instructors In Life Saving And Water Safety

TRIENNIAL TEST GIVEN LAST WEEK

Robert Zubrod, national field representative of First Aid and Life Saving has completed the instructor's institute in the Lawrence County Chapter. A requirement of the National Red Cross is that every three years the instructor's certificate must be renewed. This is accomplished only after a national field man visits the chapter and conducts an institute. It is most interesting to note that most boys and girls camps and many institutions make it a requirement for the applicant to hold an American Red Cross Life Saving and Water Safety instructor's certificate.

The institute was preceded by a preliminary course under the direction of Charles Brest, chairman of life savings and water safety of the chapter. Mr. Brest was assisted by David Boyd of the athletic department of Westminster college, and Daniel Carroll, athletic director of the George Washington Junior high school.

The following students from Westminster college passed the course and are qualified life saving and water safety instructors: David M. Boyd, Harry Brownson, David W. Chase, Frances Craig, Joseph W. Ferris, Paul Halenda, Fred Huston, James Ludwig, David S. Manula, Beatrice M. Mellors, Arthur Middleton, Catherine Parsons, Dorothy Robins, Betty Shaw, Sara A. Sturgeon.

The class from New Castle was larger but a greater number failed. Some Mr. Zubrod could not pass due to age. There is a national requirement as to age. Leading the entire class was Dan A. Carroll of the faculty of George Washington Junior high. Others completing the course and who are now qualified instructors, were: Margaret C. Beck, Charles L. Brest, James P. Emerick, Margaret Fischer, Curtis C. Fritz, Margaret Griffiths, Rebecca Johnston, Mary E. Loudon, Robert McConaghy.

Geneva Debaters Win Contests

(Special To The News)
BEAVER FALLS, Dec. 13.—In the inter-college debating contest held at Westminster college on December 9 and participated in by representatives of thirteen colleges and universities in New York, Pennsylvania and West Virginia, the debaters from Geneva won second place. Of eight different debates in which they took part they won six and lost two. The winners were James E. Rizzuto, a sophomore from Mendenhall, and Peter Sillit, of Houston, who won all four debates in which they engaged with teams from Carnegie Tech, West Virginia University, Grove City and Waynesburg; and Lee Whitmore, a junior from Ellwood City, and Melvin Krall, a sophomore from Aliquippa, who won two, one over Grove City and one over Westminster, and lost two, one to Juniata and the other to Carnegie Tech.

Geneva College Now Has Chimes

(Special To The News)
BEAVER FALLS, Dec. 13.—A recent helpful innovation at Geneva college was the installation of a set of chimes in Old Main for use in connection with the daily chapel exercises. The opening ring of the chimes is a signal for quiet in preparation for the devotional period, while their second ring announces the close of that period.

In connection with this a bulletin board has been erected in front of the entire student body, on which are posted the numbers of the Psalms to be sung during devotions, so that all may readily find these numbers. This new arrangement not only eliminates confusion during the chapel service, but also induces promptness. It was worked out by the student senate in cooperation with certain members of the faculty, particularly Drs. Wylie and Park.

Seeks Information About Victim Of Swamp Murder

Although the West Pittsburgh swamp murder remains a mystery like the several other slayings which preceded it, parents in various parts of the country continue to write Chief of Police Ralph A. Criswell in an effort to determine if the slain person is their kin.

As yet the plastic likeness of the murdered man's head has not been completed, according to reports and no identification as yet has been made.

Today there came from Bluefield, W. Va., a letter to Criswell. It was written by Joseph H. Taylor, who said his son William left home August 28. Since then nothing has been heard from the son.

Mr. Taylor describes his son as being short, age 24, and says his son had three teeth missing in the upper jaw.

The son was operated on for hernia and appendicitis. Because the torso was placed breast next to the ground and burned badly by fire it would be impossible to tell if there were scars from operations.

The delicious dinner was served to Mrs. Anna Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dauten, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Nagel, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Nagel, Mr. and Mrs. John Nevin, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. After the table, the group sang "When You and I Were Young, Maggie" and "Blest Be the Tie." Mrs. Thomas sang a German song and Mrs. Jacob Druschell, aged mother of Mr. Druschell, offered the invocation in German. A toast to the couple was offered by Mrs. John Nevin and congratulatory talks were given by Rev. Bell and J. E. Nagel.

In the evening children of the couple, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Foreman, Mr. and Mrs. John Stutz, Mrs. Carl Boots, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Swick, Mr. and Mrs. Omer Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Druschell, and grandchildren, Dorothy Wilson, Lester Foreman and Martha, Helen and Robert Stutz, gathered for dinner with their parents. In the evening many friends and relatives gathered to offer best wishes and congratulations to the prominent couple. As the guests came and went, they were served delicious refreshments.

During the day Mr. and Mrs. Druschell, who have resided their entire married life in this vicinity, were presented with a collection of beautiful and useful gifts as tokens of esteem and affection in which they are held.

Alvin Neininger Tendered Surprise

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 13.—Alvin Neininger of Bell avenue was completely surprised last evening when a group of friends tendered him a birthday party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Winkler of Wayne St.

The Neiningers were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Winkler for dinner, and in the evenings friends and neighbors, numbering 25, assembled.

Music provided by the Duck Run Mountaineers and a wide variety of games passed the hours in a delightful manner, after which appetizing refreshments were served by Mrs. Winkler, aided by Mrs. Arthur Wehman and Mrs. Harry McCandless.

The guest of honor was the recipient of an array of lovely gifts.

Discuss Project Of Building Dam

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 13.—The Department of Forests and Waters in Harrisburg is meeting with a local delegation from this city today to discuss the matter of Ellwood City constructing a dam across the Connoquessing Creek about three miles up-stream from its mouth at Ellwood.

The dam would afford boating and swimming next summer for our residents and it is hoped that permission will be granted by the Department of Forests and Waters.

Should permission be given a W. P. A. project would start immediately so as to have the dam finished by June.

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 13.—Mrs. Scott Richards was a special guest of the Mary Braeden Circle of the Wurttemberg U. P. church, whose members were graciously entertained on Tuesday evening by Mrs. Robert Taylor and Miss Marjorie Taylor, of the Ellwood-New Castle road, for the annual Yule party.

"Women in Mission" was the theme for discussion presented by Mrs. Lester Pander assisted with all of the members contributing articles on the subject. Carol singing was enjoyed after which lovely gifts were exchanged.

Added by Mrs. Richards the hostesses served delicious refreshments at small tables furthering the Christmas motif so attractively decorating the home.

Members were invited to meet again in January at the home of Miss Edith Worcester, of Wurttemberg.

Ellwood Defeats Sharpsville 22-19

Home Inaugural Of Newton Basketball Is Close; Exciting Affair

ELLWOOD CITY, Dec. 13.—In a fast, exciting game that saw the score never varying more than a point or two, seessaw to one side and then the other until the final minutes of play, when the Newton team forged ahead four points, the Ellwood City high school basketball team staged their home inaugural in a thrilling manner last night at Lincoln gym by defeating Sharpsville, 22-19.

In the opening period Matrangol made two long shots to put the Ellwood team ahead four points, but Beno, Weeks and McDougall scored for Sharpsville, with the period ending 7-6 in favor of Ellwood. At the end of the half Sharpsville had the one-point lead and the score was 12-11, and they maintained the one-point margin when the third canto ended.

Beginning the telling period, Reino forged Ellwood ahead with a one-hand shot, and at this stage the game became rough, with both teams getting many tries from the charity lines. Miller took the ball on the rebound to put Ellwood ahead, 20-17, and Beno retaliated on the next rebound and there was still just a point difference between the two teams and only time enough for another play, with Reino sinking the ball from a difficult angle to put Ellwood in the victory column.

The visitors had a great advantage in height and the Newton crew showed remarkable progress in defeating the team that last week headed them by a 10-point margin.

The Ellwood Reserves made it a double victory for the home team by defeating the Sharpsville Reserves, 26-18. Thursday night Ellwood goes to Erie Academy for the opening of a new basketball series with the Lake city.

Just at this time, when the mails are quite heavy, it is more than important that persons using the mails should cooperate with the postal department, in order to avoid delay and insure the prompt delivery of mail.

Following list of suggestions were made to guide and help those who plan to mail cards, letters and packages at this Christmas season:

Do not leave money in rural boxes for stamps, either buy a supply at the post office or meet the rural carrier and purchase a supply from him. Rural patrons should always have a supply of stamps on hand. Make sure that all packages are wrapped securely.

Address all mail to street and number, city and state. Packages going parcel post should have the address on both sides. All mail must be in the post office before Friday, December 22, for delivery. Do not include writing in third or fourth class mail, as this is forbidden. Writing may only be included in first class letters. Make sure, before mailing, that all letters and packages have sufficient postage.

Guides For Snow
Plows Erected

Just recently, workmen from the state highway department have erected red steel posts along all the hard-surfaced roads of the district.

Many persons have been wondering just what these posts were for, and inquiry to the highway department disclosed that they are snow plow guides.

If and when enough snow falls this winter to make the use of a snow plow along the highways necessary, the operator of the plow will be able to miss the concrete curbs and other obstructions along the roads. The steel posts have been placed in front of all such objects that will be buried by the snow.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "top and up." Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. VACUUM-POWER SHIFT!

—and only Chevrolet's Exclusive Vacuum-Power Shift has a hidden power cylinder which does 80% of the gearshifting work for you!

Why shift for yourself? Why do it the hard way? Chevrolet's Exclusive Vacuum-Power Shift is controlled from the steering column by an extra-short lever—its end right under the rim of the steering wheel, within easy finger reach. The only effort required of the driver is to move the lever, the vacuum cylinder supplies the effort required to move the shifter forks and gears within the transmission. Instead of supplying all the effort of shifting, the driver vacuum only one-fifth; the compact, simple vacuum mechanism, positive and unflinching in operation, does the rest.

80% AUTOMATIC—ONLY 20% DRIVER EFFORT!

ALL steering column gearshifts look more or less alike. . . . But only Chevrolet's New Exclusive Vacuum-Power Shift acts for itself when you touch the lever. . . . Only this one advanced steering column gearshift is 80% automatic in operation!

You see, Chevrolet's New Exclusive Vacuum-Power Shift has a hidden power cylinder. And this power cylinder goes into action the instant you start to shift gears. It does 80% of the work for you instead of letting you push and tug and do all the work yourself!

A Capella Choir
Wins Recognition

Will Appear In Concert-Program At Senior High
Friday Evening

The Senior High School A Capella Choir, which is to be heard in a joint concert with the Senior High School Orchestra on Friday evening, December 15, has in a comparatively short time won its way to recognition as a very definite and valued part in the life of the school and community.

With the past year, the choir has given many assembly programs at Senior High has sung for the Junior High schools, has broadcasted over the local radio station, has sung at the Baccalaureate services of the school, has caroled in various parts of the city, and has appeared in several of the local churches. Small groups from the choir have sung for lodges, clubs, missionary societies and churches.

The many fine a capella choirs which have been produced all over the country in the last decade are rapidly educating the public to the fact that a capella or unaccompanied singing is the most beautiful choral music to be heard. Perhaps the best known of these choirs are the St. Olaf's choir of St. Olaf's College, in Minnesota, under the direction of Dr. F. Melius Christensen, and the Westminster Choir of Princeton, N. J. under the direction of Dr. John Finley Williamson. The latter choir thrilled the music lovers of New Castle last winter by its splendid singing.

Robert A. Duff, director of Choral Music at Senior High school has studied under both of these directors and was for two years a member of the Westminster Choir, having made the first European trip with that organization in 1929.

Last Spring the High school choir through the efforts of its members and the generosity of its friends obtained robes which add immensely to its appearance. The choir is composed of seventy voices.

Gennock Stars

PLAY AT MEADVILLE ON FRIDAY NIGHT

New Castle High school basketball team won from Ford City High last night at the Washington High floor 29 to 20 in a pre-league season game. John "Rags" Gennock was the star of the game making 10 of the New Castle points.

The locals lagged the first period 6 to 2 and couldn't seem to locate the hoops. Adamo had the only field goal that the Red and Black clads had. Churchill, Lawrence and Wain did the Ford City scoring.

Behind At Half
At the half the New Castle team was still behind at 11 to 10, but was starting to find the hoops much more effectively. Gennock and Bombyk each made two field goals the second period. Vulcan had the only Ford City field goal and Glick with a foul supplied the other Ford City point.

Gennock in the third period with a lot of fancy shooting put New Castle out in front at 25 to 16 as the third period ended.

Turko and Frick did the Ford City tallying in the third stanza. New Castle really "went to town" scoring 15 points while the visitors could get but five.

Meadville Friday
Play was even in the fourth and final period. Both teams talked but four points, but New Castle was content to protect its lead. Kelley, Wall and Lauro were the only New Castle subs.

Friday night the New Castle boys will go to Meadville to play in the fourth pre-league game.

Sports World Ramblings

Local Sports Fodder: Tom Carey, ex-Cane basketball and grid star, contributed three points in his collegiate debut with Slippery Rock. Carey played a stellar role, defensively, as the Rockets annihilated Penn. 48-22. Last year's experience as a New Castle Booster player helped prepare Carey for faster company.

Robert Eagleson, ex-New Wilmington high athlete, a veteran on the Rocket passing machine, bagged three points and played a smart floor game. The localities rank as two of the most talented performers on the squad.

Another important rule states that a player fouled from behind, or roughly handled, while in the act of shooting, gets two free throws, whether the field goal is made or missed.

A change of a technical nature permits any player on a team to call time out previously, only the captain had this right. In reviewing the changes, a slight edge, if any, must be given the team endeavoring to protect a slim margin during the waning moments of the game. For instance, a team leading by a point is awarded a (personal) free toss. With seconds left, the team would elect to take the ball out of bounds, preventing the opponents from taking possession and the same time freezing the sphere.

Bessemer Banquet Top Event Of Year

Civic Testimonial Fete
Tuesday Evening At tracts Over 175
Persons

Until a better one comes along, Tuesday evening's civic testimonial banquet honoring the 1939 Bessemer High gridiron squad stands unparalleled for this year at least.

Bessemer High's attractively arranged gymnasium was an ideal setting for the delightful affair. More than 175 persons enjoyed the appropriate program arranged by Andy Biorli, Ellwood City sportsman, who sponsored the occasion.

At 6:30 o'clock, a corps of young ladies filed into the room and loaded the tables with huge steaming plates of turkey, potatoes, salads, and everything that spells, in big capital letters, a sumptuous dinner. Briefly, the food prepared by the home economics department of the school, was fit for royalty.

Lelenko Scores Hit
A. G. Capezzuti coach of the red and black clad eleven, as toastmaster, proffered a felicitous one. Amul Lelenko, one of the most talented young men of this district, opened the program. For over an hour, he put on a side-splitting performance. Borrowing a theatrical term, he "laid 'em in the aisles." He sang, played a violin, impersonated some of the countries most famous personalities and played the piano.

Gerald Nord, principal, welcomed the citizens and guests. He expressed gratitude to the school board, community, and everyone who aided in making possible the event. Nord complimented the squad and reminded the gathering that Bessemer has dropped but one football game in three years. In closing he thanked Biorli for the interest he has taken in Bessemer's athletic activities.

Thompson Speaks
Coach N. Kerr Thompson, whose Slippery Rock State Teachers eleven was the lone undefeated and untied team in Pennsylvania, delivered an inspiring address. "Cooperation, an important thing in every day life, and friendship, as equally important in life, are among the sterling qualities developed in football," the dignified mentor said.

"Coaches get praise for a successful team. Although a coach plays an important role in the development of a football team, I tell you the squad makes a coach. Congratulations for your fine season," Dr. A. T. Vincent, formerly athletic director at Slippery Rock, one of the principal speakers, eulogized the Bessemer squad for its prowess on the gridiron. "Football is a grand game, a sport which develops many sterling qualities in a young man. Courage, perseverance, and sportsmanship, are among the traits brought out by the popular game. As an example of what football turns out, I point to Nile Kinnick, Iowa's player of the season. He represents the ideal football player," Vincent asserted.

Joe Kennedy and Bill Pelto who served as co-captains, spoke briefly. They wished next year's team success. Charles J. Moore, assistant coach, complimented the players for their cooperation and spirit. J. DeArment lauded the coaches and players.

Condit-Tammaro Speak
Merlyn Condit, Carnegie Tech's famous backfield back, praised the Bessemer squad. Phil Tammaro, ex-Ellwood City High grid star, Condit's team mate, complimented the team for scoring a second consecutive victory over Ellwood City. He wished the team lots of luck next season.

Andy Biorli, who sponsored the event, presented a beautiful traveling bag to Coach Capezzuti; a pen and pencil set to C. J. Moore, assistant coach, and a brief case to Gerald Nord, principal. He explained that sweaters will be awarded the athletes at a later date.

Coach Capezzuti closed the program by thanking the squad, his assistant coach and the community for the splendid cooperation during the football season.

As a clincher, Biorli presented an appropriate movie, "Blue and Gold," a navy picture.

—BUY IN NEW CASTLE—

Completing the 1939 football season with victories over both of their major "objective" opponents—Pennsylvania and Pittsburgh—has given Penn State's Nittany Lions high hopes for the gridiron future.

This optimistic outlook appears reasonable after a survey of the Blue and White football players to be lost by graduation next June. Of the starting team against Pitt—the final game on State's schedule this fall—only Captain Spike Alter, left end, will be missing when the Lions open up with Bucknell next October.

It is not quite as good as it seems because Lloyd Ickes, outstanding fullback, and Steve Rollins, hard running halfback regulars, were kept from starting against the Panthers because of injuries.

However, these players, along with Ted Nemeth who divided duties at guard with sophomore Mike Garbinski, and the second team ends, Gil Radcliff and Grover Washbaugh, are the only members of Penn State's first twenty-two players to be graduated.

Of the Lions who bore the brunt of the work in State's most successful football season since 1921, the following will be available next year.

End: Tom Vargo; tackles: Carl Stravinski, Frank Platt, Len Pritchett, Walter Kniaz, and Ben Pollock; guards: Wade Mori, Mike Garbinski, and Jim Woodward; centers: Leon Galecki and Joe Kolenda; backs: Chuck Peters, Pepper Petrella, Craig White, Johnny Patrick, Bill Smaltz, Bill Debler, Len Krouse and Larry Eigenrauch.

Coach Bob Higgins will have a problem replacing the three capable ends—Alter, Radcliff, and Washbaugh—and must depend on next year's sophomores to bolster the 1940 squad in this department.

Duquesne will play Mississippi in Oxford, Miss., October 19. George Clark, former Brooklyn professional football team coach is among those considered as a possible coach at West Virginia. Efforts are under way for Al Hostak, middleweight champion to fight Billy Conn, 175 pound champion in Seattle.

A New York State ring commissioner, D. W. Wear has announced he would recommend the suspension of Henry Armstrong because he fought Jimmy Garrison in Cleveland one night after he was supposed to have fought Lou Ambers in New York. Wear claims Henry took a "run out powder" on the lightweight champion.
